ORACLE®

Customer Name:	Eli Lilly & Company	Trial:	I5BMCJGDJ
Project Phase:	N/A	SOW#:	N/A
Requested By:	Riti Singh	Date:	11-May-2017
TCCR#:	RITM1133718

TRIAL CONFIGURATION CHANGE REQUEST
ELI LILLY NO COST CHANGE ORDER

Description:

This Trial Configuration Change Request (TCCR) provides for modifications to the trial as indicated below.

ID #	Change Requested
1	Update the Study Version from 4.2.0 to 5.0.28 for all sites.
2
3
4

Checking Accept and providing signature below affirms agreement with these changes and authorizes Oracle to proceed with the changes.

Check one:

☐ Customer UAT Required

If checked,
- My signature below will act as confirmation that the TCCR can be developed for the trial.
- Upon completion of UAT an acceptance signature on the Customer Acceptance form will be required prior to implementing the TCCR on the live system.

☒ Customer UAT NOT Required

If checked,
- My signature below will act as confirmation that the TCCR can be implemented on the live trial.
- No additional customer signature will be needed.

Customer:

✓ Accept _____ Reject

Approved By: RITI SINGH Signature: Riti Singh Title: Programmer Date: 12-May-2017

Oracle:

_____ Accept _____ Reject

Approved By: _____ Signature: _____ Title: _____ Date: _____

Remarks:

Change Procedure

Oracle recognizes that changes are a normal part of a project. We believe that managing change is critical to the project's ultimate success. Because time and resource constraints can affect the project scope or schedule, Oracle manages change by establishing a formal change process. The purpose of this process is not to inhibit or prevent change but rather to facilitate change in an orderly fashion.